NEW OPA BILL
NOT TOO BAD,
TRUMAN TOLDPORTER SAYS IT IS BETTER THAN ONE
VETOED IN JUNE

BY FRANCIS M. LeMAY
Washington, July 22 (AP)—Just after Senate-House conferees had completed a compromise forbidding ceilings on major food items for 30 days, Price Administrator Paul Porter told President Truman today that the new OPA bill is better than the one he vetoed in June.

Porter visited the president not long after the White House itself had gotten back into the price control fight with a report that prices have increased rapidly since OPA died. The report, from the commerce department, and unaccompanied by any comment from Mr. Truman himself, argued that prices would have risen even more were it not for efforts by OPA's foes to keep increases at a minimum until the fate of OPA is determined.

Showdown Vote Today
The price administrator, leaving the executive offices, told newsmen he had made no recommendation on whether Mr. Truman should sign or veto the new bill if it passes. He said he would not do so until it arrives at the White House.

He added, however, that he had told Mr. Truman "this bill is better in many important and material respects than the one he vetoed."

Showdown votes on the new measure were arranged for tomorrow in both houses.

Meanwhile, a group of Democratic leaders, calling at the White House failed to get a definite commitment from President Truman whether he will approve or veto the bill if it passes.

Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich.), one of those opposing the compromise bill, told reporters "I refuse to be a party to the almost inevitable confusion which will result from attempts to administer this bill."

On the important food issue, here is what the bill does:

1. Prohibits any price ceilings under any circumstances before August 29 on meats, dairy products, grains, cottonseed and soybeans and feed and feed products made from them; poultry, eggs, tobacco and feed products made from them, and their products and petroleum and its products.

2. The new control board will decide before August 29 whether these items should be recontrolled or remain free of ceilings.

3. If it fails to act before August 29 the OPA by its own action then could restore controls on meats, dairy products, grains, cottonseed and soybeans and food and feed products made from them. Until today's final committee meeting some had believed that it would be possible to put that list of items under control before Aug. 21. In no event can ceilings be clamped again, without positive authority from the board, on poultry, eggs, food and feed

Under Water
Atomic Test
Stage Is Set

Aboard USS Mt. McKinley, Tuesday, July 23 (AP)—The last command conference has been held and everything is in readiness for the underwater atomic bomb test scheduled for Thursday morning (Wednesday afternoon, U. S. date).

The final preparations include completion of the task of submerging six submarines in the target fleet and the holding of a routine electronics rehearsal.

The task force commanders have reported everything ready and no obstacles in the offing. Submerging the submarines, a two-day task, was the final act in dispersing the fleet of target vessels whose hulls are to be submitted to the terrific force of the underwater explosion.

There was a weather chance that the test might be delayed by a inter-tropical front.

The weather demands for "Baker" Day (Thursday) are far less exacting than they were for "Able" day, when the atomic air explosion test was held. This is because the air forces will have nothing to do with the actual discharge of the underwater bomb, which is to be suspended beneath a special raft or float. On July 1 (Able day) the atomic bomb was dropped from a B-29.

The six submarines will be the closest of all target vessels to the detonation center and submarine commanders said any would be lucky to survive the underwater shock. They are the heavy hulled Dentura, Pilotfish, and Apogon and the light hulled Skipjack, Tuna, and Searaven.

In addition, the heavy hulled submarines Parche and Skate will be anchored to the surface.

The Pilotfish will be the target ship closest to the bomb.

HEIRENS DENIES
KIDNAP-KILLINGGrand Jury Indictment
To Be Sought In
Degan Case

Chicago, July 22 (AP)—State's Attorney William J. Tuohy said today he would seek the indictment of William Heirens, 17, in the kidnap-killing of Suzanne Degan regardless of the question of any confession.

The grand jury will receive the case, he added, "as soon as all possible circumstantial or direct evidence," has been obtained on all leads.

Chicago's major newspapers, at various times, have said a "deal" was being considered whereby Heirens would plead guilty to the Degan slaying, the "lipstick" killing of Frances Brown and the fatal stabbing of Mrs. Josephine Ross in return for a prosecution recommendation for life imprisonment instead of the death penalty.

These reports, however, have not been verified by Tuohy. Heirens and the youth's lawyers. All have said that no confession has been made. No charges have been placed against Heirens in connection with any of the slayings.

The youth is in county jail in default of $290,000 bond in connection with 29 charges of robbery and assault.

The Herald-American, in a copyright story today, quoted Heirens as saying in a jail interview: "I am not guilty of the Suzanne Degan or Frances Brown murders and I never heard of this Ross woman. I am not proud of what I did when I was a kid but murder, that's out."

Chicago, July 22 (AP)—Directors of the Monument Builders of America, Inc., today termed a "national disgrace" the "present dilapidated and unkempt condition of the Statue of Liberty."

C. P. Reynolds of Toledo, O., president, told directors that the famous statue, "littered and defaced with refuse and lipstick drawings and knife carvings, is a tragic indictment of the American public and an indication of Washington's apathy toward one of the world's most famous shrines."

Mystery Homicides
Fatal To Nine

London, July 22 (AP)—A London housepainter was arraigned today on a charge of murdering the former housekeeper of King George II of Greece, and investigating the deaths of her children of nine women and girls since early June.

Arthur Robert Boyce was formally charged with the murder of Elizabeth MacLinden, who was found shot to death in a fashionable Belgrave mansion where she was employed early in June.

Witnesses testified at Boyce's arraignment that Miss MacLinden spent more than one night with the housepainter, of whom she was in mortal terror.

Boyce's former landlady and a fellow painter, Arthur Stanley, each said Boyce and the attractive housekeeper slept in the same room at least once.

Stanley said when he took them tea in bed Miss MacLinden asked if Boyce had a gun. "I have been threatened that I will be shot," the witness quoted her as saying. Boyce, he said, made no comment, but "just had a grin on his face."

Los Angeles, July 22 (AP)—A coroner's jury recommended today that Mrs. Esther L. Dicks, 28-year-old negro, be held to answer for the deaths of her children of three and two years after Howard Achenbach, sheriff's detective, testified she told him:

She thought they were possessed with devils when they wriggled in their seats at church, and when they couldn't recite passages of scripture she thought the devil was holding their tongues. So she placed her hands over their mouths and held their noses until they were quiet.

This was reported today by County Clerk Caspar J. Lingeman, who added that Dr. Keyes apparently footed the bill himself since he listed no contributions.

INDICTMENTS IN BRIBERY CASE

BY ROBERTA APPEGATE
Lansing, July 22 (AP)—State Rep. Raymond J. Snow, Flint Democrat, pleaded guilty in Ingham county circuit court today to grand jury charges that he took part in a bribe conspiracy to defeat the 1941 anti-branch banking bill.

Ten others, including four representatives of the Michigan National Bank, also surrendered to the indictment issued Saturday, but demanded examination. The grand jury named 24 in its warrant.

Judge Louis E. Coash, the grand juror, set August 1 as the tentative date for the examination. All were released on $2,500 bond each.

Prominent Bankers Named
Defendants who demanded examination were Byron L. Ballard of Lansing, counsel for the Michigan National Bank group and former legal adviser to ex-Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner; Howard J. Stoddard, president of the Michigan National Bank group; Francis P. Slattery of Grand Rapids, assistant vice president of the Grand Rapids branch of the bank; Simon D. Den Uyl of Detroit, secretary-treasurer of the Bohn Aluminum and Brass Corp.

State Rep. James B. Stanley, Kalamazoo Republican; former State Senator Carl F. Delano, Kalamazoo Republican; and Ernest G. Nagel, Detroit Democrat, and former State Reps. Edward J. Walsh of Detroit, Earl C. Gallagher and Joseph J. Kowalski, all Detroit Democrats.

Snow waived examination before pleading guilty. Special Prosecutor Richard B. Foster said he expected him to be a state witness in the case, but refused to discuss what part Snow played in the conspiracy.

Snow declared "I'm not saying anything."

Most of the other defendants are expected to surrender tomorrow. Charles B. Bohn of Detroit, chairman of the board of the Michigan National Bank and of the Bohn Aluminum and Brass Corp., is

TWO TRAINMEN

At Ft. Custer; Three Others Injured

Battle Creek, Mich., July 22 (AP)—Two Michigan Central railroad trainmen were killed and three others injured today when two freight engines collided and rolled down an embankment on a spur track near Fort Custer.

The dead are Charles Richards, of Battle Creek, engineer, and Bruno Jussala, believed to be from Jackson, Mich., his fireman.

S. C. Miller of Battle Creek, conductor on Richards' train was injured, although not seriously, hospital attendants reported.

William Rankin of Galesburg, Mich., engineer on the Westbound train, and his fireman, Don Parks of Battle Creek, leaped from their cab before the collision but were taken to Leila hospital badly burned by escaping steam.

The body of Jussala was cut from the cab of his engine two hours after the crash and rescue crews continued their attempts to free the body of Richards.

The engines were picking up cars along the Fort Custer siding west of the Battle Creek city limits. The westbound engine rolled down the embankment and landed atop the eastbound locomotive after the crash.

Making Of New World War Is Seen In China

Shanghai, July 22 (AP)—Madame Sun Yat-Sen, widow of China's revered revolutionary leader, today changed "reactionaries" with fomenting war between the United States and Russia and called for the immediate withdrawal of American troops and military supplies from China.

"The first flame of a world conflagration is burning in our land," she said. "It must be quenched lest the fire destroy the world."

Madame Sun came out of long semi-retirement with her challenging public statement at a moment when the Chinese communists and the government of her brother-in-law, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, were claiming first-class victories in the constantly-spreading civil conflict.

The rivals agreed only on the location of the battles—in Kiangsu province on the north side of the Yangtze river within a few miles of Nanking and Shanghai.

Government quarters asserted 20,000 dead communists had been buried by government soldiers after a series of engagements.

A communist spokesman contended 12,000 government troops and the general commanding the 49th army had surrendered to the communists.

Madame Sun declared that reactionaries in the Kuomintang (the government party) were inflaming the nation to civil war, which they could not win, "because they hope the civil conflict in China will incite the war between America and the U.S.S.R. and thus at last crush the Chinese communists."

As the junta took its first steps today to solidify its control of the nation, Lt. Col. Victor Alarcon, newly appointed commander of the La Paz military region, directed all units of the Bolivian army to obey the orders of the provisional government. The army has a total personnel of about 15,000.

Noting that certain army units, particularly the Loa regiment, had sided with the revolutionists in the predominantly civilian rebellion, Alarcon said that the military lodge whose members had controlled the Villarroel government had been destroyed.

The revolution was interpreted in many quarters as the result of dissatisfaction with the military regime because of the increased cost of living, currency inflation and poor working conditions. Washington, July 22 (AP)—Rep. May (D-Ky.) declared today that because of the "press of constant legislative duties" he would be unable to appear before the senate war investigating committee tomorrow in response to its subpoena.

He said in a statement to newsmen, however, that "I feel I will be able to make this appearance at an early date." The statement added that "arrangements" for the appearance "are now under discussion."

The chairman of the house military committee, whose name has figured in numerous angles of the inquiry, reiterated that he feels entitled to be represented by counsel and to have the right to cross-examine witnesses and subpoena documents.

May previously had made this a condition for a voluntary appearance but the committee had turned him down. Whether he would continue to insist upon it was not clear from his statement.

BY JULIO VALDES
La Paz, Bolivia, July 22 (AP)—Revolutionists who took over the government of Bolivia after killing President Gualberto Villarroel and many of his collaborators pledged themselves today to call Democratic elections and turn the nation over to a government "chosen by the people."

The provisional government, made up of student and labor revolutionists, announced the discovery of partially burned bodies of political prisoners of the Villarroel regime. The bodies, they said, were found in boxes at police headquarters.

Spokesmen for the junta said this was evidence of the severity of measures taken by Villarroel's virtual dictatorship to suppress the long-smoldering revolt which erupted last week and was climaxed by four days of bloody street fighting in which 2,000 persons were believed to have been killed or wounded.

JEWIS CALLED

NEW HORRORSTERRORISTS BLAMED FOR OUTRAGES IN PALESTINE

BY OSGOOD CARUTHERS
Jerusalem, July 22 (AP)—The Palestine government announced tonight that 93 persons, including 14 senior British and Palestine officers, were killed outright or are missing under a "huge pile of debris" in the noon-time bombing of the palatial King David Hotel.

The official announcement of the casualties was made shortly after the Jewish agency expressed horror at the bombing and called upon the Jewish community in Palestine "to rise up against these abominable outrages."

Police attributed the attack to "Jewish terrorists."

Known casualties up to 9:30 p. m., the Palestine government said, were 41 dead, including eight unidentified bodies, 52 missing in the wreckage and 53 injured. The missing include 12 senior British officers of the government secretariat and two senior Palestine officers of the attorney general's department.

Corner Torn Away
The blast, which ripped through the secretariat and the headquarters of the British army, destroyed 25 rooms on five floors and tore off a whole corner of the massive hotel.

A few hours after the blast 39 bodies were removed from the wreckage.

The Jewish Agency, a public body established for the purpose of advising and cooperating in the administration of Palestine in the interests of Jewish inhabitants, said in its statement:

"The executives of the Jewish Agency and of the Jewish National Council express their horror at the dastardly crime perpetrated by a gang of desperadoes who today attacked government offices in Jerusalem and shed the innocent blood of government officers and other citizens, British, Jewish and Arab."

"They extend their deepest sympathy to the relatives of those who have been murdered and those who have been injured. The Yishu (Jewish community in Palestine) is called upon to rise up against these abominable outrages."

Responsible Jewish sources promptly blamed the attack on "either the Irgun Zvai Leumi or the Stern gang" which they described as the more irresponsible of the three underground Jewish groups. Haganah, the third underground organization, was absolved of blame by both the Jews and the British.

The explosion, touched off at 12:30 p. m., when the military and government staffs were at full strength, ripped out a corner of

STARR ON DECK
FOR U. S. JUDGEDisputed Nomination
Approved By Senate Committee

Washington, July 22 (AP)—President Truman's disputed nomination of Michigan Supreme Court Justice Raymond W. Starr of Grand Rapids to the federal bench was approved by the senate judiciary committee today, clearing the way for senate confirmation.

Starr was nominated federal judge for the western Michigan district.

The committee delayed until Wednesday its action on the nomination of Theodore Levin, Detroit attorney, for federal judge in Michigan's eastern district.

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) said that Starr, who was present at the committee's executive session, denied he would resign the federal court post in order to run for governor or the senate.

In objecting to Starr's nomination, Rep. Hook (D-Mich.) had charged the purpose was to build up the state supreme court justice as a 1948 senatorial candidate. Hook at one time sought the post.

Later he backed Joseph M. Donnelly of Houghton, former U. S. attorney for western Michigan.

The recent Michigan democratic convention turned up opposition to the nominations of both Starr and Levin. One contention was that Starr's place on the state court should be filled by a Republican governor. Critics of Levin said he was a former republican.

Police And Pickets
Mix In Scuffle At Battle Creek Plant

Battle Creek, Mich., July 22 (AP)—Pickets and police engaged in a scuffle before the American Marsh Pumps, Inc., plant today, prompting Mayor Bernard E. Goode to ask state police intervention.

An observer for the state police was ordered to the scene. Quiet had been soon restored, however, after one tear gas grenade had been tossed among pickets.

The fracas, involving a dozen policemen, took place as 50 office workers and foremen tried to enter the plant. Strikers of the International Association of Machinists, independent union, are protesting a breakdown in wage negotiations. The strike began last Wednesday.

The union was enjoined by court order Saturday from denying access to the plant and office.

More Trips Added

Lansing, July 22 (AP)—Four late night and early morning trips have been added to the weekend schedules of the state highway department ferries crossing the Straits of Mackinac. Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler announced today.

The new departure times are 11:30 p. m. and 12:30 a. m. from Mackinaw City and 1 a. m. and 4 a. m. from St. Ignace on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays.

Ziegler said the additional trips are necessary because of the amount of weekend business during early morning hours.

Second Bakery Is Signed By Union, To Reopen Today

The second of the strikebound local bakeries, the Delta Bakery, signed an interim agreement at one o'clock this morning with the union, it was announced a short time later by Fred LaChapell, union representative. The signing concluded a negotiation session which began at eight o'clock on Monday evening.

Coming on the heels of similar action at the Hoyer and Baur establishments about noon on Monday, it means that two of the three struck plants will once more go into operation today.

The agreement with the Delta Bakery is said to be practically identical with that concluded with Hoyer and Baur Monday. It provides for a 12 1/2-cent hourly raise, agreement on working hours and conditions and provision for adjustment in wage rates in 30 days.

Bradley Measures Die In Committee

Washington, D. C. (WNS)—One bill to prohibit gambling and another mixed ring bills, in the District of Columbia will die in committee with the end of the session, and even if there is a recess are not likely to be taken up later in the year, Representative Bradley predicted today.

Representative Bradley introduced a bill to prohibit all gambling in the District of Columbia and tie on a penalty by making gambling a felony.

He is not a member of the District of Columbia Committee of the House, and indications are that he introduced the bills at the instance of one of the District Committee members, but he said that hope of getting the measure through was gone.

Another bill introduced by Representative Bradley prohibits what are known in sporting circles as "mixed bouts." These are boxing bouts in which the participants are white and colored.

Representative Bradley did not explain his interest in boxing in the District, but said a woman called him on the telephone and asked what mixed bouts meant. She wanted to know if mixed bouts were those between man and wife.

These bills and another one applying only to the District of Columbia will be lost in the rush for adjournment or recess, Representative Bradley said.

Raid on gambling are made whenever it is discovered by the police in Washington and it is freely held that there is no gambling in the district.

Woman Secretary Invades Senate And Shatters Precedent

Washington, July 22 (AP)—Mrs. Francis E. Dustin, a senator's secretary, walked onto the Senate floor today right smack in the middle of a session, thereby shattering a 160-year-old precedent that had barred women attaches.

Her appearance was made with the unanimous acquiescence of the Senate, which only last week turned down a proposed women's "equal rights" amendment to the constitution. Mrs. Dustin, secretary for Senator Brewster (R-Maine), was "very proud" and too excited by the whole thing to go to lunch afterwards.

the hotel from the ground to the roof, wrecking a section about three rooms long and three wide. Witnesses to the explosion said a girl telephoned the hotel 15 minutes before the blast saying "Your building is about to be bombed."

Immediately after the explosion, the Jewish quarters of Jerusalem were placed under a strict curfew. Fully-armed British soldiers by the truckloads, accompanied by Bren gun carriers, patrolled the city.

One British police officer, himself wounded in the arm by the debris, said: "Three of my buddies are on the slab from this, and God knows why I fought in Germany with those lads."

A high British officer, who asked that his name not be used, declared: "You see that wreckage? That's the wreckage of the Jewish state."

A reliable Jewish source said: "The Jewish reaction to this outrage is one of unspeakable horror and shock. There is no excuse for murder. This was done by a terrorist group that doesn't think like we Jews do."

The attack came just 23 days and eight hours after the British occupied the Jewish Agency and arrested Jewish leaders in an all-out campaign against terrorist activities in Palestine.

(In London the British cabinet authorized publication of a white paper, detailing evidence which the government says links Jewish leaders with Palestine violence.)

The blast, described by a British officer as equivalent to the explosion of a 500-pound bomb, broke windows throughout Jerusalem and injured a number of persons some distance from the hotel which stands atop a gradually sloping hill overlooking the business district of the city.

Writer's Leg Broken

The only American known to be injured was Richard Mower, New York Post correspondent, who suffered a broken leg when he was hit by a falling stone while walking past the hotel.

The curfew was invoked immediately after the explosion and all traffic, with the exception of military and police, was barred from the streets.

Fifteen minutes before the explosion the telephone operator at the King David received an anonymous call saying that the hotel was going to be blown up and advising her to "run for your life."

The operator spread the alarm and many guests ran out of the building into the sun-splashed streets, but others—used to alarms—remained.

As word of the mysterious call spread, air raid sirens atop the hotel and throughout the city were touched off. While an excited crowd stood in the street outside the hotel, eighteen young men, six of them dressed as Arabs, appeared in a long corridor of the basement of the King David.

Young Men Suspected

One British officer said the young men spoke Hebrew. A British major, suspecting their objective, shouted at the group to halt and reached for his automatic pistol.

The youths dressed as Arabs fired at him but missed. They rushed upon him, however, pinned him to the wall and produced tommy guns.

A number of the raiders then ran into the basement night club. There they placed their explosive, and approximately 90 seconds after they had fled the terrific blast ripped upward. Six of the raiders were seen to jump into a waiting automobile.

Most of the department heads in the military and government offices were elsewhere when the blast shattered the right wing of the building, but Postmaster G. D. Kennedy was reported unofficially to have been killed.

A military officer, who was an eye-witness, said a small bomb exploded a block from the hotel just before the main blast, evidently a diversionary. Seconds later a burst of tommygun fire smashed the kitchen windows under the secretariat offices, followed a few minutes later by the tremendous blast that blew a corner of the hotel into rubble.

"I saw dead men lying in the streets, and there were several ATS (British Army Women Auxiliary) girls covered with blood from head to foot. One man was blown clear across the street and his body hit the YMCA building."

The YMCA building was undamaged by the blast.

British military and Palestinian government officials began taking over part of the 250-room King David hotel in 1939 after the outbreak of World War II.

It is one of the most modern hotels in the Middle East and the King David bar is known as the unofficial "office" for most visiting foreigners.

Missouri Sheriff And Deputy Kill Two Bank Bandits

Osceola, Mo., July 22 (AP)—Two gunmen were slain by a Missouri sheriff and his deputy today just 25 minutes after the pair had robbed the Bank of Humansville, Mo., of more than $1,000.

Sheriff Logan Peery and Deputy J. E. Kincaid, alerted by telephone, found the bandits changing license plates on their car three miles south of here and killed both in a short gun battle.

Although O. E. Simms, cashier of the robbed bank, estimated the loot only roughly at "more than $1,000," the officers found $4,700 in the bandits' car.

Social security cards found in the dead men's pockets bore the names of Phillip Cronin, 45, of Essex, Mass., and Bill Frizzell, 38, address unknown. The car they were driving was described on a rental slip issued May 20 in Hartford, Conn., which was found in the machine. Cronin had a driver's license issued there.

State highway patrolmen were searching tonight for a red-haired woman and a brunette with whom the two men had been living at the Sunshine beach resort on the Osage river near here the last two weeks.

SOLON ADMITS PLOT TO KILL BANKING BILL

reported on a business trip in South America, and former Rep. Walter N. Stockfish is believed to be in the army, stationed in Manila.

Three In Prison

Other defendants are former Representatives Earl W. McEwen, Sr., of Flint, William C. Stenson of Greenland, Francis J. Nowak, William G. Buckley, Adam W. Sumner, all of Detroit, State Senator Charles S. Blundy of Detroit, and former State Senators Gilbert H. Isbister of Port Huron, Robert W. McLaughlin of Flint, and James A. Burns, Charles C. Diggs and Leo J. Wilkowski, Detroit Democrats.

Buckley, Nowak and Wilkowski will be brought to court from the state prison of southern Michigan where they already are serving prison terms resulting from previous grand jury convictions.

William Henry Gallagher of Detroit and Eugene B. Garey of New York are attorneys for the bank representatives.

The defendants are accused of conspiring to defeat the 1941 anti-branch banking bill which was vetoed by Governor Van Wagoner. A similar bill finally became law in 1945.

At Detroit today Van Wagoner issued a statement saying:

"If there was skulduggery going on behind the scenes in connection with the anti-branch banking bill or any other measures passed by the legislature during my administration as governor, I certainly shall do everything in my power to help bring any guilty individuals to justice."

The former governor said he was intimately acquainted with only one of the defendants named in the banking indictments—Byron Ballard.

"I have known Byron Ballard for the last 13 years and know him as a man of the highest integrity," he said. "When he says he is innocent, I am one citizen of Michigan who believes him. When he has his trial before a jury of 12 honest American citizens, I venture to predict he is one man who will be found 'innocent.'"

Rumors that more than $50,000 had been spent by the bank group to defeat its passage led originally to the formation of the Ingham county grand jury three years ago.

Isotopes Shipped Out For Research On Atomic Energy

Washington, July 22 (AP)—Secretary of War Patterson disclosed tonight that the first shipment of radio active isotopes, elements which have been exposed to atomic energy, will be made next week from Oak Ridge, Tenn., for use in medical, biological and industrial research.

The secretary said in a speech prepared for broadcast (CBS) that the army is anxious for atomic energy to be applied as soon as possible toward realizing its maximum peacetime benefits and added that biological research appears to be a promising field for this work.

MOB STRINGS UP DEAD BODY OF PRESIDENT

found wounded in the chest and that he pretended to be a Leftist leader whom he resembled slightly.

"I am Alfredo Mendizabal (Revolutionary Leftist party leader)", the president was quoted as shouting. "Don't kill me."

These witnesses said Villarreal attempted to lift his revolver, and was shot in the chest before he could fire. His body was tossed from the balcony to the mob in the street blow, where his clothing was ripped to shreds. The almost nude body was hung to a lamp-post along with those of three of his trusted lieutenants.

The body then was draped with a sheet, labelled with an official photograph of Villarreal, and slung over a tank, which was paraded through the streets of La Paz.

General Election Planned

Even while the crowd mocked and jeered at the body of the "strong man" of Bolivia, the new government was in session to name temporary officers and set in motion the machinery for what it said would be a democratic general election.

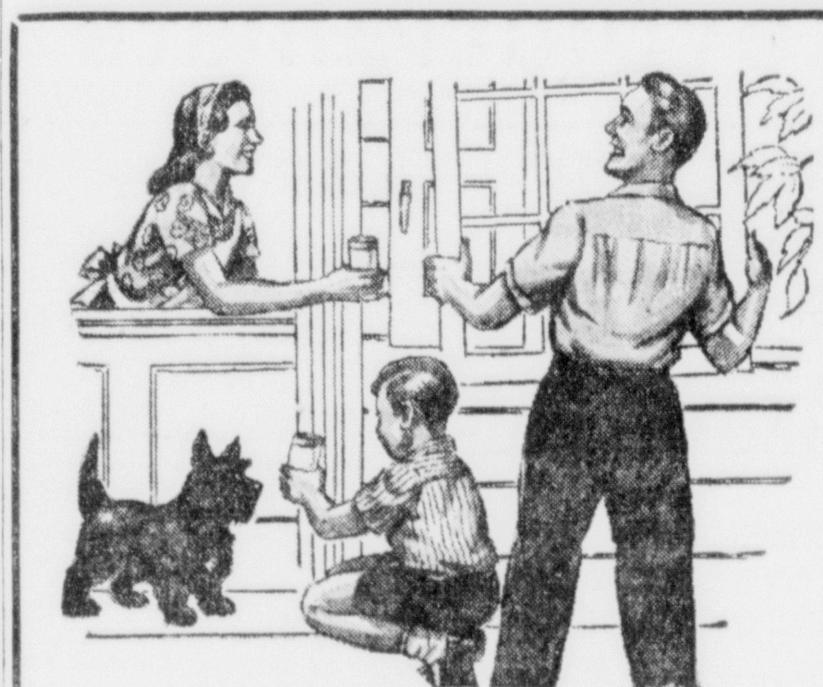

Nestor Guillen, dean of the superior court of the La Paz district, became acting president, but promised to step down as soon as Thomas Monje, president of the court, was well enough to take his place. The leaders meanwhile promised that all suppressed civil liberties would be restored immediately.

Telephone and electric service, disrupted during the past hectic week, were restored, and the city slowly began to return to normal.

Some members of Villarreal's military cabinet, which had been in office only one day, still were at large today. One of them, Lt. Gen. Angel Rodriguez, listed in a United States blue book several months ago as a Nazi, still was a fugitive.

The life of Villarreal's police chief, Maj. Joe Escobar, was saved by a nurse. Escobar was found by the Revolutionists on the third floor of the palace, and he was being beaten when the nurse intervened. Escobar was led away into custody and his guards were quoted as saying he was wanted alive, as "living evidence of the November massacre."

The guards referred to the unsuccessful revolution of Nov. 20, 1944, when many rebel leaders were arrested and never were seen again. It was reported later that Escobar signed an affidavit concerning the 1944 revolt, but if this was so, the document was not made public.

Rotarians Discuss Community Chest Program For Delta

Should Delta county have a community chest program for financing the operation of local organizations such as the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and others?

That question was discussed pro and con by members of the Escanaba Rotary club at their meeting yesterday noon at the Delta hotel, with Louis Hildebrand in charge of the program. There was no attempt on the part of the club to sponsor a community chest, but the discussion was held for the purpose of providing information on a subject that is arousing considerable local interest.

George Lindenthal, who has been active in fund raising work in past years, described the mechanical structure of such campaigns. He said that about 750 persons from the cities and townships are needed to conduct a successful fund-raising drive.

John Lemmer, Escanaba superintendent of schools, whose particular interest in the subject is the raising of funds to aid crippled and afflicted children, said that several organizations—Red Cross, tuberculosis seal sale, March of Dimes, and Easter Seal Sale for crippled children—would not come under the community chest program. Joseph Ivens presented additional information.

Carl Nelson was the strongest advocate of a community chest. He declared that it was virtually the same persons in the cities and the townships who are called upon to work in the fund raising drives year after year. The amount of work to be done under a community chest program would be greatly reduced because they would work in one big drive rather than in "one every other month."

Fred Earle, club president, supported the idea of a community chest. He said that a thorough solicitation once each year would give everyone an opportunity to contribute, and that the amount from each would be smaller than if the solicitation was incomplete on a number of drives.

Employment Increases In Upper Peninsula

Employment increased in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan during June, the United States Employment Service reports in its monthly review of the labor market.

The overall gain in 101 reporting establishments between May 15 and June 15 was 39.9 per cent. Logging camps are short of help, particularly pulp cutters, demand exceeding supply in many areas.

Unemployment as of June 30 was estimated at 13,500 in spite of the increased number of workers employed. Of this number veterans accounted for 10,300 and women 800. Of the jobs open at the end of the month, 264 were in the iron and copper mining industries, 663 in logging and lumbering, 100 in leather and leather products, and 134 in service and resort industries.

The situation in the various U. P. counties was as follows:

Alger county—Employment increasing—job seekers number 257 (195 veterans), a decrease of 290 from May 28—job openings as of June 27 were 112, of which 89 were in logging and lumbering activities—shortage of materials holding up construction—housing situation very acute.

Baraga county—Highway construction totaling more than $160,000 are scheduled to begin immediately after July 15—workers seeking jobs number 326 (270 veterans)—job openings as of June 27 numbered 29—immediate need is for 135 workers, including 80 highway laborers.

Chippewa county—Employment fairly stable—job seekers number 1300 (900 veterans)—job openings numbered 106 on June 27, 48 being in logging and lumbering—demand for resort workers exceeds local supply—new construction in area will absorb very few local workers—large surplus of workers in all classifications expected to continue until fall.

Delta county—Employment declined slightly during June—1580 workers (1250 veterans) seeking employment—new applications for work received during month 223 (165 veterans)—job openings as of June 27 were 106, of which 70 were in logging and lumbering—housing facilities remain scarce—anticipated that local labor demand will not absorb available labor supply.

Dickinson county—Employment rose sharply over May figure, due to a large number of workers being called back to work after coal shortage—progress is slow in construction industry on account of scarcity of supplies—approximately 1900 workers (1400 veterans) seeking employment—an increase in employment is expected with the release of a more adequate supply of materials needed in the construction industry.

Gogebic county—Employment is tight at present time—some logging operators are hiring workers, but one of the principal loggers has suspended operations—job seekers number 1600 (1200 veterans)—unfilled job openings on June 27 numbered 318 as against 259 on May 31, of which 101 were in logging and lumbering—iron mines and sawmills are fully staffed, with openings only for veterans with reemployment rights—a new glove factory will open in Ironwood, employing 100 women, with a future potential of 200—resort demand for labor exceeds supply—retail establishments maintaining tight employment status.

Houghton and Weevenaw counties—logging and lumbering at peak production—1200 workers recalled in copper mining industry after layoff due to coal shortage—job seekers number 2140 (1700 veterans)—387 jobs available on June 27, 242 of which were in copper mining, and 137 in logging and lumbering—housing situation remains critical.

Iron county—Employment increasing—job seekers dropped to 950 (770 veterans) on June 27, as compared to 1070 (820 veterans) on May 31, 85 of these being in logging and lumbering activities—the competition of shaft sinking at some of the mines will increase employment within the next two months—housing situation very tight.

Luice and Mackinac counties—Employment steady—active job openings as of June 30 were 26, majority of which were in logging and lumbering with a few skilled workers needed in the tourist industry—approximately 200 workers migrated into area seeking employment with resort operators in addition to regular workers already brought into area by these employers.

Marquette county—Employment fairly steady—slight gains in logging and lumbering and building construction—job seekers number 1640 (1370 veterans) which is 235 below that of May 31—job openings as of June 27 numbered 80 as compared with 116 on May 31. Most of these openings are in the City of Marquette. At least 1100 applicants reside in localities outside Marquette where job opportunities are not too plentiful.

Menominee county—Employment has levelled off to a probable post war peak—job seekers number 660 (430 veterans) on June 27 as compared to 742 (487 veterans) available job openings on June 27 numbered 55—no immediate prospects of total employment increasing.

Ontonagon county—Employment stable—workers actively seeking employment number 280 (230 veterans)—available job openings as of June 27 numbered 66 as compared with 80 on May 31—demand for skilled and unskilled sawmill workers continue.

Schoolcraft county—Employment increasing—active job seekers numbered 281 (226 veterans) on June 27—job openings available on June 27 numbered 38, majority of which were in logging camps and sawmills—shortages of housing and building materials affecting greater increase in employment.

Wound Diphtheria Is Health Threat

Washington—(SS)—A rare type of diphtheria has been brought to the United States by soldiers returned from the overseas theaters with skin diseases. A new problem of disease control has been created in Army hospitals.

The diphtheria differs from the common throat infection in that the diphtheria germ enters the skin through a wound or sore, and attacks the nose, throat, and ears, as well as the skin.

Virulent diphtheria germs were found in 1/20th of the patients sent to an Army hospital because of skin infections acquired in a tropical area. Nearly half of the other patients and workers in the skin disease wards were found susceptible to diphtheria, as measured by the Schick test.

A plan to check the spread of wound diphtheria has been reported by Maj. Eric Denhoff, Lieut. Maxwell Kolodny, Col. Worth Daniels, and Capt. Landis Mitchell, of the Army Medical Corps. Careful examination of incoming patients, isolation and quarantine of diphtheria patients, and Schick tests for all patients and workers are recommended, especially for hospitals caring for patients with skin diseases.

Unsupervised Swimming

THE drowning tragedy Saturday in the slip on the north shore, near the old merchants' dock, brings to the fore once again the hazards of bathing in unsupervised waters.

For some reason, probably because of the challenge it offers to swimmers, the north shore slip has long been a favorite swimming spot for a group of local youngsters. The water there is extremely dangerous because of the sharp dropoff. Every effort should be made to discourage swimming in that area and to encourage the public to utilize the facilities at the municipal beach, where supervision is available.

Daily trips by city patrolmen in their radio car to the north shore beach would probably be sufficient in itself to stop the use of that dangerous shore for bathing purposes.

Parents, however, can help to prevent a recurrence of this type of tragedy by warning their children against swimming in any area that is not under supervision, particularly in water that is known to be deep.

Return to Reaction

REACTION has returned to the South in a double dose with the nomination of Gene Talmadge for governor in the Democratic primary in Georgia, following close on the heels of the successful race by Theodore Bilbo for the senatorial nomination in Mississippi. Since the Democratic nomination in the South is tantamount to election, the nation will have to endure the hate-peddling reactionaries for the duration of their terms, at least.

The picture is not as black as it appears on the surface, however. Talmadge was victorious in Georgia because his political cohorts were able to change the election law to provide a return to the county-unit system of voting. James V. Carmichael, endorsed by retiring Gov. Ellis Arnall, won the popular plurality, but Talmadge won under the county-unit plan which is similar to the electoral college system in presidential elections. In Georgia, however, the county-unit system is weighted to heavily favor the rural districts, where red-galvanized Gene is politically strong. For instance, a rural county of less than 10,000 population can equal the vote of a large county of 100,000 or more.

Talmadge, like Bilbo, ran on a "white supremacy" platform, calling for the denial of the right of suffrage to Negroes, despite what the U. S. Constitution has to say about it. The present Georgia governor, Arnall, has an excellent record. He abolished the poll taxes, installed more efficiency in state government, battled for lower freight rates for the South and championed other measures directed toward the industrial, agricultural and social development of Georgia.

Gov. Arnall could not run in the recent election because of a state law which prohibits consecutive terms for the governor. While there is something to be said in favor of such a law, it works to the detriment of a state when it is denied the right to elect a public servant who has served well.

More Indictments

TWENTY-EIGHT indictments, bankers and industrialists have been indicted by the state grand jury on charges of conspiracy to corrupt the 1941 legislature, Murray D. Van Wagoner, then governor, and Byron L. Ballard, his legal adviser. It is charged that $50,000 was paid out in bribes to defeat the anti-chain banking legislation during the 1941 session.

The bank inquiry was started three years ago by the grand jury team of Judge Leland W. Carr and Kim Sigler, as grand jury prosecutor, who worked on it for two years. The Carr-Sigler team was succeeded by Judge Louis E. Coash as grand juror and Richard B. Foster, who was appointed special prosecutor after Judge Coash ousted Sigler.

Of course, the charges will have to be proven in court, but enough has happened in the past three years to convince the people of Michigan that there has been much graft and corruption in Lansing. It will convince them all the more that Kim Sigler deserves much credit for the hard fight he made to uncover the misdoings of public servants in the state capital. It also emphasizes the ridiculousness of Van Wagoner's promise, made in a primary campaign speech, that there will be no more one-man grand jury investigations if he is elected governor. The people have more confidence in one-man grand juries than in legislative investigating committees.

Drain on Forests

THE American Forestry association states that a report of a three-year inventory of the nation's forest resources indicates that something must be done in the future to offset the heavy drain of timber in recent years.

During the war, there was a need for all the timber the industry could produce. Now, the postwar building boom, just barely getting under way, also will cause a heavy drain on our forest resources.

The association estimates that the country's needs for wood products in the next five years may amount annually to at least 35 million board feet of lumber, an additional 12 to 15 million feet of other timber products, and possibly as much as 20 million cords of pulpwood.

The association declares that the demand can be met without reducing the forest productivity, but will require many changes in woods practices and policies. To sustain high rates of production, the report shows, all western areas of old growth must be opened up. Mature trees in public forests, it is pointed out, also should be cut rather than be allowed to die unharvested.

There always will be a need for wood products. Even if substitutes were found for wood, the need for forests would remain, to hold water in certain areas, to provide cover for game, and furnish hunting, fishing and other forms of outdoor recreation to the people of America. Lands unfit for farming must be returned to the growing of trees, and existing forests must be put to the wisest use by approved conservation practices.

Success in Metal

THE success of the Manistique industrial firm of Thompson and Heltman, manufacturers of "Tommy Toys," should provide additional encouragement to others interested in the development of small industries in this area.

There have been few metal products industries in the Upper Peninsula until recently and the general belief was that such industries couldn't be successful up here, some distance from the raw materials. Because of that belief, concentration was on woods products, which still constitute the majority of the industries in this area.

It is well, of course, to continue the development of wood industries since the raw material is rather abundant, but diversification is wholesome to the industrial life of the area. The number of small metal products industries that have made successful starts in a new field proves that it can be done. All that is required is to make a "better mousetrap."

Other Editorial Comments

(Grand Rapids Press)

P. J. Hoffmaster, director of the state conservation department, refuses to take a pessimistic view of the upper peninsula's future. Noting that the copper industry may be declining and that iron mines may be operating under difficulties, he contends, nevertheless, that upper Michigan may be entering a "golden era of development." He doesn't believe the iron mining industry should be counted out, since large ore deposits guarantee that iron will be mined in the region "when other rich deposits are exhausted," but he maintains that the upper peninsula's brightest prospects lie in expansion of health resort and tourist trade.

Certainly anyone familiar with the area will agree that it has magnificent natural assets. A terrain that is anything but monotonous, abundant streams and lakes, the last great hardwood timber stand in the United States, and a climate ideal for summer vacation or winter sports are among the more obvious ones. The conservation director stresses, also, that it is within 24 hours' travel time of 25,000,000 persons, is relatively close to the great lakes and has more virgin timber than can be found in all the other lake states combined. Fish and game are plentiful, more so in fact than at any time in the past.

Despite these great resources the feeling has persisted among many upper peninsula residents that they face a bleak future. That attitude is reflected in the rather steady decline in population over a period of years. A certain disposition to regard the region as a continuing economic problem has been evident among some state officials. And a surprisingly large number of persons in the lower peninsula show little or no interest in that part of the state above the straits.

One of the immediate ways to help encourage the development of the upper peninsula's potential wealth is to stimulate a greater interest in the region among Michigan's own residents. The United States can boast of many areas of scenic beauty—from New England's hills to Colorado's rugged mountains and California's timbered slopes. But the Porcupine mountains and the other natural attractions of the upper peninsula will stand favorable comparison with any of these. Michigan residents ought to be among the first to discover the beauties of the region for themselves.

Genealogy is the tracing of family pedigrees. The word stems in the Greek genes, "birth; descent." Note that the third syllable is not "ol." It is "al," to rhyme with "pal." Also, it is best American usage to pronounce the first syllable as "jen," rather than "jee." Better say: JEN-ee-AL-oh-jee.

Washington—Friends and admirers of Justice Hugo L. Black of the supreme court have taxed me with being unfair to him in a recent column. Because I make every effort in this space to be fair and accurate, I want to examine the charge they bring.

In the column on Justice Black, written shortly after Justice Robert H. Jackson made his public statement questioning Black's integrity, mention was made of a dinner given early last year in Black's honor "by a group representing labor and left-wing politicians." It was also said that among those who eulogized Black were "The legal representatives of several large labor organizations" who, a few days later, appeared before the supreme court to argue cases for their unions.

The latter statement was inaccurate. While Joseph Padway, counsel for the AFL, and Lee Pressman, counsel for the CIO, were among the sponsors for the dinner, they did not speak. I have been informed. There are those who give Pressman a large share of the credit for inspiring the dinner. Others say this is not true.

—CHAPMAN WAS CHAIRMAN—

In any event, the dinner had a broader representation than I indicated. The chairman was assistant secretary of the interior Oscar L. Chapman. The toastmaster was Sen. Alben Barkley of Kentucky. One of the sponsors was secretary of the navy James Forrestal. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was a patroness and speaker. Mrs. Harry S. Truman was a patroness, and then vice president, who is now president, sent a message apologizing because he could not be present and warmly praising Justice Black. If I have done an injury to Justice Black in making that dinner seem something other than what it was, I am sorry for it.

Looking back at the record of the dinner is illuminating. Not the least interesting eulogy was pronounced by Fred Vinson, who was then economic stabilizer and is now chief justice of the United States. Analyzing Black's career, Vinson praised him for his courage.

"Expediency would have counseled him, as a new-robed judge, to take refuge in the dignified anonymity which a lesser man might seek to find on the bench. Instead, he straightway challenged in unequivocal tones many of the widely accepted juristic canons of the day."

This was the theme of most of the speeches in praise of the justice who has become a controversial figure. Speakers praised Justice Black for his craftsmanship in the law and also for his championship, in the senate and on the supreme court, of civil liberties and social justice. They lauded him for carrying his convictions onto the bench.

It is precisely that which the "strict constructionists," including Justice Jackson, accuse Black of doing. They charge him with legislating on the bench instead of merely interpreting the statutes in accord with the constitution.

—REASONS FOR QUARREL—

This is the heart of the long quarrel over the supreme court. It so happens that one of America's most searching thinkers in recent times discussed this very problem more than a quarter of a century ago. Brooks Adams, of the famous New England family, published in 1913 a series of essays, one of which was called "American courts as legislative chambers."

He pointed out that, under the constitution, the courts were free to pass on the "reasonableness" of legislation and not alone on its legality. Beginning with the early justices, the supreme court, as Adams said, "assumed under a somewhat thin disguise the position of an upper chamber which, though it could not originate, could absolutely veto most statutes touching the use or protection of property."

The court, in Adams' interpretation, had become the bulwark of the property interests of this country. In this light, it is not hard to understand the outcry that went up when Black was named to the court, for clearly he was a passionate partisan who would not surrender his partisanship.

As Adams pointed out, some justices, such as Joseph P. Bradley and Joseph Story, sought to turn the court away from legislation. In our own time, that was the supreme effort of the late Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone who, in repeated dissents, reported the old court for killing New Deal laws by voting this "economic predilection." In a famous opinion, Stone said in effect that the judges' only restraint is "our own sense of self-restraint."

Very few of the judges in our history have had this self-restraint. That is why, in Adams' phrase, the court becomes an upper chamber, and it is why the quarrel over the role of the court is so bitter.

azines, which print condensed versions of articles from other publications, are epitomes; (2) popular contempt for cheating is an epitome of the American spirit of free play.

Note carefully that epitome does not mean "acme; highest point of perfection," as "she is the epitome of loveliness;" he is the epitome of courtesy," etc.

Epitome, a formal or literary word, will be a useful addition to your vocabulary; but made sure that the two meanings given above are clearly understood before you use the word in serious speech or writing.

Be sure, also, to give the word four syllables, thus: ee-PIT-oh-me.

One of the most frequently mispronounced words in American speech is "co-operative." We hear is usually as "KWOP-ruh-tiv," an unlovely telescoping which goes contrary to the American custom of sounding clearly all the syllables of most words. Also note that it is best usage to place a hyphen between the first and second syllables, thus: co-operative. This prevents the word from suggesting a "coop."

Be sure to give the word five distinct syllables, thus: KOE-OP'er-AY-div.

ADVENTURE TRAIL—On the decks of sailing ships in the moonlight, in the pilot houses of storm-tossed ships on Lake Superior, in yacht clubhouses wherever sailormen gather, you will hear recounted the story of the greatest mystery of the Great Lakes. It is a story that goes back 267 years to the first sailing ship on the lakes. It is the story of LaSalle's "Griffin," whose first voyage to Green Bay ended in mysterious tragedy.

What became of the "Griffin"? Is there no discoverable trace of the pioneer ship which would be the key unlocking a centuries-old mystery?

C. H. J. Snider, Toronto newspaper editor and yachtsman, is seeking the answer to those questions in the only way they may ever be answered. He is re-sailing the route of the ill-fated "Griffin" from where it was built on Lake Erie to where it was last seen leaving Green Bay for the return voyage.

—EARLIER THIS MONTH SNIDER DOCKED AT GREEN BAY IN HIS 65-FOOT schooner "Kingarvie," the initial part of his trip in the footsteps of LaSalle completed. He had sailed the length of Lake Erie, up the Detroit river, on northward into Lake Huron and through the Straits of Mackinac into Lake Michigan, and from there into Green Bay.

HISTORY IS VAGUE—Snider is using Father Hennepin's journal of the "Griffin's" voyage to follow the route. This was written in general terms, however, and there are many vague points about the navigation.

In his journal Father Hennepin describes the building of the "Griffin" near Niagara and the many difficulties LaSalle and his crew encountered. Once they were raided by Indians, who almost destroyed the half-completed hull by fire. Metal for the fittings, and the brass cannon that have been the object of search these many years, were brought from France. The oak and other woods that went into the ship, however, were from the shore of Lake Erie.

WASHINGTON ISLAND—LaSalle, Tonti, Father Hennepin, and the pilot Luc were among those who sailed with the "Griffin" northward to Green Bay for a load of furs. Once on Lake Huron the ship was nearly engulfed by a storm. At St. Ignace the ship anchored and the cannons were fired to the astonishment of the Indians who gathered around in their birch bark canoes. The party attended mass in the Jesuit mission at St. Ignace, outpost of French civilization in the Northwest nearly 300 years ago.

Father Hennepin relates that the "Griffin" continued on to Green Bay and anchored in a harbor which is believed to be Detroit harbor at Washington Island. There LaSalle, Hennepin and Tonti left the ship after she was loaded with a cargo of furs, which was prepared to return under the command of Luc, the pilot.

The "Griffin" sailed away, never to be heard from again. Whether she foundered in a storm, or her crew mutinied and stole the furs and burned the ship, may never be known. Father Hennepin later reported that Indians said they

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago—1936

At one of the loveliest wedding ceremonies of the summer social season at Madison, Wis., Miss Mary Stophlet, daughter of Donald S. Stophlet of Shorewood Hills, Monday became the bride of J. Gunnar Back, of Madison, son of John S. Back of this city.

Agnes Leiper and Elizabeth Leiper were members of a three-day Niagara Falls excursion group conducted for University of Michigan summer season students by Prof. Irving D. Scott of the geology department.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Verne Sjodin, Gladstone Route 1, on July 10. He has been named Glen Elias.

A huge jug, appropriately decorated, has been contributed as a trophy for the annual series of Armistice Day football games between Gladstone and Escanaba high schools by George Springer, Minneapolis, former Gladstone resident, an ardent follower of local high school sports.

20 Years Ago—1926

Mrs. Anna Baum, aged 68, widow of the late Charles Baum, pioneer hardware merchant, died at the family home, 421 South 11th street, at 12:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pital and daughter, Helen, have left for an extended trip to St. Anne de Beaupre, Montreal, Quebec and Champlain, Canada.

Federal "padlock" injunction were applied for the first time in Delta county when Judge Fred Raymond issued orders closing two establishments this week. They are the Fosterling hotel in Lathrop and the St. Clair hotel in Escanaba.

A kick-back from a customer's car fractured the arm of Louis Miller, employed at the Cloverland Oil company filling station, Manistique, yesterday.

had seen the "Griffin" sailing before a storm. Historians believe the "Griffin" may have sailed back through the Straits of Mackinac before she came to her mysterious end.

WRECKAGE FOUND—At least twice in the past decade there have been reported "discoveries" of the wreckage of the "Griffin." Both have yet to be authenticated.

The first such "discovery" was of ancient wreckage on the shore of Manitoulin Island in Georgian bay by an expedition headed by Capt. McDonald of Chicago. The second was found near Birch Island among the Les Cheneux group near Hessel, as the result of a statement by the late Capt. Louis Goudreau of St. Ignace, veteran lakes skipper.

In neither instance were the six brass cannon known to be aboard the "Griffin" found in the wreckage or in that vicinity. While the wreckage indicated the ships were old, it has never been established that the hand-hewn oak timbers, the old metal pins and other parts of the ships were those of the "Griffin."

SEARCH GOES ON—The fate of the "Griffin" has captured the imagination of men throughout the centuries, and so long as men of adventurous spirit like Capt. McDonald and C. H. J. Snider live there will be expeditions made in an effort to solve the mystery.

Somewhere, sometime a discovery will be made which will bring an end to the story of the first sailing ship on the Great Lakes—and the "Griffin" will sail no more in endless voyage in the minds of men of adventurous spirit.

What do you want to know? We will answer questions on any subject not involving extended research. Legal or medical advice cannot be given. Write your question clearly, sign your name and address, and (IMPORTANT) MAIL THIS COUPON and a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope to the ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SERVICE BUREAU, 1217 Thirteenth St., Washington 5, D. C., for a personal reply. Don't telephone; write as directed.

Q. Kindly tell me whether I am entitled to mustering out pay for my son who was killed in action?

A. Mustering out pay is paid only if the serviceman is honorably discharged from service. You are not entitled to receive mustering out pay, but the six months gratuity pay instead—providing the servicemen did not leave a widow or child.

Q. Does the government pay the first year's interest on G. I. loans?

A. No. When the loan is repaid to the Veterans Administration for a certificate of guaranty, the amount that VA pays is applied to reduce the amount of the loan. VA pays 4 percent on the amount guaranteed which cannot exceed 50 percent of the loan, or $4000 on a real estate loan and $2000 on a non-real estate loan.

Q. What agency of the United States government administers the old age and survivors' insurance?

A. The Federal agencies are the Social Security Board and the United States Treasury.

Q. My three-old son seems willfully naughty. I have used every means that I can think of as punishment but to no avail. It seems to make him worse instead of better. Can you help me?

A. Every child deserves attention. If you ignore him when he is good and fuss over him when he is naughty, he may be naughty to get attention. Try watching for opportunities to praise him, not to punish him. Take time to play with him when he is good. Never punish him when you are angry and never make threats that you cannot carry out. Punishments that may be used are putting him in a room alone (not in the dark) and taking away some pleasures. Discipline to be effective must be consistent. Do not punish him for a misdeed that you ignored previously, unless you intend to punish him every time he does it.

Q. For what was Thomas H. Gallaudet noted?

A. He was the pioneer teacher of the deaf in the United States. He was born in Philadelphia, December 10, 1787. In 1816, after spending several months at the Royal Institute for Deaf Mutes in Paris, he returned to America and raised enough money to open in 1817 in Hartford, Conn., the first free school for the deaf in Washington, D. C., which developed into Gallaudet College.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington — Patient Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky hasn't blown off steam since he stamped the senate against FDR's veto of the last war tax bill. But at a luncheon the other day he indicated to friends that the pot again was beginning to boil.

In fact, Barkley stated categorically that he would resign if President Truman vetoed the present OPA bill.

He said he was tired of living on a treadmill, that the present OPA bill was the best he could get out of the senate, and if the President wouldn't accept it, he would resign as majority leader.

The serious and protracted illness of the senator's wife and the recent disclosure that his son was employed by the Erie Basin war profiteers have increased Barkley's already heavy burden. Senate friends hope, however, that either the price-control problem will be ironed out or that Barkley will reconsider.

The Barkley conversation took place just prior to a luncheon commemorating the 20th anniversary of Princeton University, attended by Senators Alexander Smith of New Jersey and Joe Guffey of Pennsylvania, both Princeton men. Admiral Ernie King (Annapolis) and Senator Barkley (Emory College, Ga.) though not Princeton grads, were also present.

—TRUMAN'S RED FEATHER—

It has been a long time since the face of 11-year-old Sigrid Stengel, German war refugee, has lit up as it did when she visited the White House the other day.

You wouldn't have thought that such a pretty and poised little girl could have known the horrors of war. She wore a blue cotton dress and looked like any little American girl as she pinned a red feather on President Truman symbolizing the start of the community chest drive.

It has been five years since Sigrid saw her Jewish parents taken away by S. S. men in Southern Germany. Later her older sister also "disappeared." Now Sigrid is living with a cousin in Washington.

Three other children who have been aided by the community chest accompanied Miss Beatrice Hodgson, a chest official, as Sigrid pinned the red feather on the President.

Mr. Truman thanked her, then reached up as if to remove the feather.

"Don't you want to wear it?" asked Miss Hodgson.

"Oh, yes," replied Truman. "I was thinking."

Miss Hodgson had the same thought. "Sigrid," she asked, "wouldn't you like to have that feather as a souvenir?"

"Yes, I'd love it,"

"All right, Sigrid," said the President, "you can have it. But since you pinned the feather on me, you'll have to unpin it."

Sigrid lost no time complying. When she left the White House, she was carrying the feather like a trophy, and if her thoughts drifted back to the bitter past, you couldn't tell it from her million-dollar smile.

—TRUMAN STICKS WITH OPA—

Three farm officials, Albert S. Goss, master of the National Grange, together with President Quentin Reynolds and John Davis of the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives, came away from a White House conference with a 50-50 score the other day.

Truman agreed with them that one agricultural expert should be among the three members of the economic council to be set up under the full employment act. But he disagreed when Grange Boss Goss tried to convert him on the OPA.

"I don't want you to think I'm slipping, Mr. President," grinned the farm leader as the meeting was about to break up. "Every time we meet, we discuss a certain subject. So if I came here today and didn't mention it, you'd probably think something was wrong."

"Ah—the OPA," guessed Truman immediately. "What have you got on your mind?"

Goss replied that he still had hopes of converting the President to the idea that maximum production could only be achieved by relaxing price controls.

"My organization wants to see OPA continued," said the Grange leader, "but with limitations that will enable the farmer to produce more."

Goss contended that the shortage of fertilizer was attributable to price ceilings; also that much of the last hay crop was lost because of the delay in grading baling wire manufacturers a price boost to encourage wire production.

Truman replied that he had heard the same arguments many times before and that he realized OPA's management had not been "100 per cent perfect." However, he said he had not changed his position one iota from the views set forth in his veto message on the first OPA extension bill sent him by Congress.

"We must have down-the-line price controls," concluded the President. "It is wrong to make specific exemptions in the law favoring certain producers, as some factions in Congress are attempting to do."

Let the grass grow under your feet and you'll never be in clover.

ROTARY PLANS CAMP FOR BOYS

Uthrotar Organization
Meeting Scheduled
For Aug. 28-31

Rotary clubs of the 143rd district, which includes the Upper Peninsula and Northern Wisconsin, will sponsor the attendance of one or two high school boys at a Uthrotar organization meeting camp to be held Aug. 28-31, inclusive, at Clear Lake in the Hiawatha National Forest in Schoolcraft county.

The decision to hold the Uthrotar camp was made at a recent Rotary District Assembly at Merrill, Wis., attended by Escanaba Rotary club officers and Harold Lindsay, Rotary district governor. Purpose of the camp is to provide the opportunity for Uthrotar to draft a constitution and formulate plans for Uthrotar clubs, such clubs to be sponsored by Rotary clubs of the district if they so desired. Yesterday at its meeting the Escanaba club voted to sponsor the attendance of two boys at the camp.

Uthrotar was originated by Robert Burns, Wakefield, when he was district governor of Rotary. Last May, for the first time, a Uth-rotar conference was held in connection with the district Rotary conference at Escanaba, and at that time the boys indicated their desire to meet later in the summer to plan for a permanent organization.

Purpose of the meeting was outlined to the Rotary club yesterday by H. D. Brackett, a member of the Uthrotar committee. Edward E. Edick is chairman of the committee and other members are R. J. Smith, W. F. Watt and Rev. Fr. Alphonse Wilberding.

Sixty-four boys may be accommodated at Clear Lake camp, which is under the supervision of the U. S. Forest Service. Cliff Drury, Marquette, YMCA field director, and W. F. Watt, of the Michigan Children's Institute.

Wood Tick Study Continues In U. P.

Alexander MacVittie, biologist with the Michigan department of health, yesterday was in Escanaba on his tour of the Upper Peninsula in the collection and study of wood ticks being made by the department. From Escanaba MacVittie will go to Marquette and thence to the Copper Country.

Three vials of wood ticks collected by conservation officers within the past 10 days were received by MacVittie at Escanaba. Conservation officers are cooperating by collecting the ticks for the biologist in the various sections of the U. P. Taken to Lan-

Upper Peninsula Has 2 Candidates For State Offices

For the first time in Michigan political history, two Upper Peninsula candidates are standing for office on the ticket of a major political party.

On the Democratic ballot in November will be Thurman B. Doyle, Menominee, candidate for sing they will be studied in the health department's laboratory.

Attorney General, and Commander Marvin L. Coon, USNR, Escanaba, for auditor-general.

Doyle and Coon were nominated by the Democratic party at its State Convention held July 3-6. Both men are natives of the north country, and both have impressive records of public service. Each of the candidates is a lifelong democrat. Their nomination is seen as a tribute to the growing influence and importance of Michigan's Upper Peninsula. They are running on a ticket headed by former-Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner, who seeks re-election to that post.

Doyle, 50, served from 1933 to 1936 as assistant United States Attorney at Grand Rapids, and has held city and county office during his years as a practicing attorney in his home town. Two years ago he was keynote speaker at the Democratic State Convention. At that time he also was nominated for Attorney General on the Democratic State ticket. Coon, who is 53, is a veteran of both World Wars I and II. At present he is mayor of Escanaba. He entered public service in Baraga county as a member of the Baraga Board of Education, County Road Commission, and County Tax Commission. He was former warden of Marquette Prison, and previously represented the Michigan Liquor Control Commission and the Federal Housing Administration in the Upper Peninsula. Coon has been connected with the U. S. Naval Reserve since 1910, having enlisted as a seaman in the Michigan Naval Militia, and is at present a Commander. He is one of the two Michigan men to receive the highest naval award for extraordinary heroism during World War I. He is married, and four of his five children served in World War II.

Edith Sundstrom,
Kenneth Blosser
Exchange Vows

Miss Edith K. Sundstrom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sundstrom of Ford River, became the bride of Kenneth C. Blosser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Blosser of Rapid River, at a wedding which took place recently at the Seventh Day Adventist church in Escanaba. The ceremony was performed by Elder John B. Blosser, grandfather of the bridegroom.

White baskets of mixed flowers and a trelis of roses and lacy hearts, with tall white tapers on either side, decorated the church rostrum. Flowers and ferns tied with white satin ribbon marked the seats reserved for members of the two families.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a gown of white lace, fashioned with a gathered skirt and long lace train. The fitted bodice, which buttoned down the back, featured a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves which were veiled in the wrists. She wore a veil held in place by a beaded tiara, and carried a bouquet of pink roses, white gladioli, and white sweet peas, tied with white ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Rollo B. Hill, who was matron of honor for her sister, wore a gown of aqua taffeta. Her matching shoulder-length veil was held in place with fresh flowers, and she wore elbow length white gloves. Miss Irene V. Londo, the bridesmaid, wore a pink taffeta gown and long white gloves. Her short pink veil was gathered with fresh flowers. Both attendants carried arm bouquets of pink and white gladioli, carnations, and snapdragons, tied with contrasting ribbons.

Donald Blosser served as best man for his brother, and James Peak was the bridegroom's other attendant. Ushers were Conrad Sundstrom and Wallace Dahl.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Carol Jean Erickson sang "O Promise Me," accompanied by Mrs. George Schram, who also played the Wagner and Mendelssohn wedding marches.

Dinner for 85 guests

Mrs. Sundstrom attended her daughter's wedding wearing a blue and white print dress, with black and white accessories. Her shoulder bouquet of pink snapdragons was tied with white ribbon. Mrs. Blosser chose an orchid and white print jersey dress, and white accessories. Her shoulder spray of white snapdragons was tied with orchid ribbon.

Following the ceremony, 85 guests attended a wedding supper at the Ford River town hall, which was decorated for the occasion with a color scheme of pink and white. Centering the bridal table was a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. White tapers and bouquets of flowers were arranged on either side of the cake. Covering the table was a cloth of white linen, more than 50 years old, originally owned by the bride's grandparents.

Following the reception, the couple left on a honeymoon trip through Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, and Michigan. They will reside in Berrien Springs, where the bridegroom will complete his college studies, which he began before entering service. He served for three and one-half years in the armed forces, spending two years in the South Pacific, and received his honorable discharge in January of this year. The bride was employed as a secretary at the Investor's Syndicate office in Escanaba for the past four and one-half years.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blosser and family, Mrs. Paul Wehner, Mrs. Cora Lausten, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Blosser and family, all of Cooks; Mrs. Rollo B. Hill Edmonds, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. Wolfred Sundstrom and family, Ironbelt, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. Emil Johnson and Marie, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson, of Norway.

Many veterans have availed themselves to library privileges. Mrs. Nancy Thomas, librarian at the Carnegie Public library recently stated. A number of these young men, who became familiar with camp libraries while in service, have more interest in and are more at home in the Escanaba library than they were before they went away.

Veterans are interested in books about places that they visited during the war. The books are to increase their own information or that of their families. One recently checked out "Into Siam" because it was illustrated with the picture of a street that he had been on, when in that country.

Mrs. Thomas asserts that the interest in vocational books, while it is felt, is a slight one. Those vocational books that the veterans are reading include ones on chicken farming, how to go into business for oneself, or how to choose a vocation.

Prompted by the enthusiasm voiced over some book a veteran relative or friend read while away, many people ask for the same book at the Carnegie Public library desk. The subjects of such books range from fiction to non fiction.

The library is well stocked to handle veteran demands on a wide range of subjects.

SIGLER DINNER IS SCHEDULED

Candidate For Governor Comes Here Wednesday Evening On Tour

Kim Sigler, Republican nominee for governor, now on an informal "vacation tour" of the Upper Peninsula, will be received in Escanaba Wednesday evening at an 8 o'clock dinner at the Ludington hotel.

Art Jensen said yesterday that the dinner is sponsored by a group of business people of Escanaba, and that persons interested in meeting Sigler may attend the dinner or greet him at the hotel following the informal get-together. Reservations for the dinner must be made with the hotel not later than noon Wednesday.

Sigler has described his trip through the Upper Peninsula, now drawing to a close, as an informal vacation tour. With him is his daughter, Madelon, who joined her father last Thursday in Marquette county, arriving there by plane. She will be with him in Escanaba tomorrow evening and for the rest of the vacation trip.

Fred Earle, president of the Escanaba Rotary club, yesterday noon announced to the members the time and place of the dinner meeting for Sigler. In many communities Sigler has been honored by Rotarians because of his work in Rotary, which brought recognition in his election to the office of district governor in Lower Michigan and his attendance at a delegate to Rotary International.

From Escanaba Sigler will go to Manistique and thence to the Straits.

Swim Only At City Beach, Police Warn

Police Chief Michael F. Ettenhofer yesterday asked the cooperation of parents in having youngsters swim only at the city beach, where three lifeguards are on duty and where recreation facilities are provided.

Swimming in the yacht basin or elsewhere than at the city bathing beach will be halted, the chief said. The police order is necessary in the interest of safety and will be enforced.

Legion Vice Commander Praised "Splendid Hospitality"

"Revamp your program in terms that appeal to young men," G. Graham Huntington, of Newark, N. J., national vice commander of the American Legion, told his audience at an after-dinner meeting at the high school auditorium Saturday evening.

Shortly before the war began the Legion had a membership of 1,667,000, the highest the organization ever attained, he said. Latest figures, he said, are 3,300,000 and next year the mark is likely to be five million. Practically all of these new members, he pointed out, are World War II veterans—young men—and they in time will take over the management of the organization.

Opportunities for development, he said, are far greater than anyone ever imagined, but he warned older members that they must continue to take an active part in the organization until the judgment of the younger members becomes more mature.

With the average age of the World War I vet 54 and that of the War II vet 22, he declared it obvious that tolerance in approach to all problems affecting the Legion is one of the most important things Legionnaires should remember.

Mr. Huntington, touching on the local scene and the convention was warm in his praise of Manistique and of Upper Michigan. He said he will never forget "this beautiful spot in God's country and the swell people who make it so." It was his first visit to Northern Michigan and he expressed the wish to return often.

He liked the parade, particularly the bands and the drum corps, singling out the Escanaba Ladies' Drum Corps for particular praise. He said: "There wasn't a girl in the bunch who wasn't a knockout."

Boys' State Governor Speaks

Another impressive feature of the after-dinner program was the account given by David Anderson of Iron Mountain, who at the recent meeting of Boys' State in Lansing, a Legion sponsored institution, was elected governor of that mythical unit of government.

The young man, speaking extemporaneously, gave an interesting and graphic account of the activities of Boys' State and the political campaign which resulted in his election.

Nearly four hundred people attended the banquet, served by the Methodist W. S. of C. S.

Lake Shore Works Planning To Build

Iron Mountain—Purchase from the Ford Motor company of four blocks of land immediately north of Woodward avenue in Iron Mountain; bounded on the east and west by Carpenter and Kimberley avenues, and comprising 39 lots for residential building and 20 for business purposes, was announced today by F. A. Flodin, president, and W. B. Thompson, vice-president of the Lake Shore Engineering company.

The purchase does not include an area at Kimberly and Woodward which has been deeded to the Iron Mountain General hospital with proviso that it will revert to the Ford Motor company if construction is not started by Jan. 1, 1948. There are now, due to rising costs and shortage of materials, no definite plans for construction.

CHURCHMAN TO VISIT HOLLAND

Father Schevers Leaves Friday For Visit To Native Land

The Rev. Father B. J. P. Schevers, pastor of St. Francis de Sales Catholic church, will leave this week-end for his native Holland where he will visit relatives for about six weeks.

Announcement of his intentions was made in the course of services at the church Sunday morning. He plans to leave Friday night for New York City and board a plane at LaGuardia Field for Amsterdam, a journey that should take him to his homeland in about twenty-four hours.

Father Schevers, who came to Manistique about 37 years ago, was born in Holland and entered the priesthood in that country.

During the late war he was deeply concerned over the safety and welfare of relatives whose homes were in the area hardest hit by the invading Nazis. For many months he had not heard from them and that morning that the cablegram arrived notifying him that these loved ones were safe, he expressed that moment as the happiest one in his life. He learned later that the homes of these people had been badly scarred by the ravages of war, but in the realization of their safety, he considered this to be a matter of minor concern.

Father Schevers has been a priest for nearly fifty years.

Grand Marais H. S. Graduates Honored

Barbara E. Chilson, valedictorian of the graduating class at Grand Marais High School, has been given the Tenth Annual Award of the Reader's Digest Association for students who by their successful school work give promise of attaining leadership in the community. It was announced today by J. E. Wells, Superintendent.

Miss Chilson will receive an honorary subscription to the Reader's Digest for one year and an engraved certificate from the editors, "in recognition of past accomplishment and in anticipation of unusual achievement to come."

Since 1937 The Reader's Digest Association has presented these awards yearly in senior high schools throughout the United States and Canada. The awards are part of the educational program sponsored by the Association and were a logical outgrowth of the wide use of the Reader's Digest in school work. With collaboration of leading educators supplements to the magazine, containing guides for reading improvement and aids to effective speech and composition, are made available to schools and colleges.

The award to Miss Chilson, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chilson of Grand Marais, was made possible through the cooperation of Superintendent Wells and his teaching staff. They selected Miss Chilson to receive the award, designed to stimulate scholarship, citizenship, and continued contact with good reading after graduation. During the past school year, Miss Chilson worked in the superintendent's office. Barbara E. Chilson and Virginia M. Kotela have received scholarships to Ferris Institute, Big Rapids, Michigan, where they will both enter college in September.

Newberry Legion Band Makes Hit At Legion Parley

Newberry—The Newberry Legion Band, foot sore and lip weary, returned home Sunday night from Manistique where they were unanimously declared to have been "the life of the U. P. Legion convention" for three days.

Dressed in their navy blue uniforms, the 20 piece band was "on the go" almost constantly during the convention. In addition to their regular appearances, the musical organization took part in several strictly-Newberry parades. They also appeared upon request at impromptu gatherings, and played several open air concerts in Manistique. And to top off their grinding schedule, the band made one last appearance Sunday noon before shoving off for home, playing a short concert at the intersection of Walnut and Cedar streets.

It was the first time since the war that the Newberry band had enjoyed full pre-war strength. About half of the band membership is veterans. Band director Col. Jack Baetz was well pleased with his reorganized band. "My boys really outdid themselves," he declared. "It was just like old times. We've played for more than a dozen Legion conventions in past years, and the Manistique convention was the best of all."

Band manager Merle Anderson, another veteran of the organization, was on hand to serve in the capacity of drum major.

Three automotive units also accompanied the band, including the Legion's locomotive, the 40 and 8 box car, and the big blue and gold band bus. More than 50 Newberry Legion delegates attended the convention.

MOUNTAIN TRIP IS DESCRIBED

Major Who Led Men Over
Owen Stanley Mts.,
Rote Speaker

Returning veterans are worthy of all the assistance that can be given them in returning to normal civilian life and Delta county is doing a fine job in this respect, Maj. Burlingame, who led the 32nd Division across the Owen-Stanley mountains in New Guinea, told Rotarians at their weekly noonday luncheon yesterday.

The speaker is now chief of the rehabilitation section of the Michigan Office of Veterans Affairs.

Alluding to the trip across the chain of hogbacks which were the Owen-Stanley mountains, Burlingame said Australia was about to be invaded by the Japs at that time in 1942 when Gen. MacArthur made the decision to send men across the mountain range to stop the Japs at Buna. Port Moresby was the key to the invasion attempt.

The 42-day trip saw men struggling in temperatures from 120 degrees to almost freezing when rains began about noon, subsisting on one can of bully beef each day providing the planes brought supplies, weakened by disease and insufficient food, but going always forward, never complaining. Men who completed the trip lost from 40 to 50 pounds in weight.

When they arrived at Buna the men did a splendid job in fighting the Japs. With the airfield at Buna taken, the remainder of the division was flown in, the trip taking 40 minutes in comparison with the 42 days afoot.

Out of the campaign were learned many lessons which proved highly valuable and saved the lives of many of our men in subsequent jungle campaigns.

Maj. Burlingame submitted the official report on the mountain crossing and in closing it he said that from his observance of the qualities of the men forming the Red Arrow division that we "need have no fear of the final outcome of this war."

He praised the work of other American servicemen, and lauded the grand job done by all.

Williams Displaces Vernon As Top Man

Chicago, July 22, (P)—Irrepressible Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox with a booming .365 mark finally has displaced Washington's Mickey Vernon as the pace-maker in the American League batting race.

Vernon, leader virtually since the season started, last week was left eight points behind the ram-paging Williams with a runner-up average of .357.

Williams spurred 12 points during the week, 11 of them coming Sunday as he slashed seven hits in nine appearances. Ted also became the new leader in hits with 118, giving him top ranking in four specialized departments.

He continued to lead in runs batted in with 90, belting across eight for the week ending yesterday; in home runs with 27; and runs with 94.

Dom Di Maggio of the Red Sox juggernaut kept third in the batting column, despite a three-point drop to .339. Others in the top ten included Hank Edwards of Cleveland, .326; Johnny Bernardino of St. Louis, .322; Johnny Pesky of the Red Sox, .314; Bobby Doerr, another Boston buster, .311; Charley Keller of New York, .309; Luke Appling of Chicago, .308; and Vern Stephens of St. Louis, .305.

Steady George Case of Cleveland kept ahead as the No. 1 base stealer with 17 thefts, while Vernon retained his two-bagger lead at 22; and Johnny Lewis of Washington continued to lead in triples with 10.

Maintaining his win-a-week pace, Lefty Hal Newhouse of Detroit again topped the pitching department with an 18-3 record. Bobby Feller moved down 16 more batters to hoist his strike-out bag to 211.

PILOTS CORNHUSKERS

Lincoln, Neb., July 22 (P)—A. J. Lewandowski, 41, former four-sport star and more recently coach and business manager at the University of Nebraska, today was named athletic director for the Cornhuskers.

CUBS LOSE TO TRENARY, 7-5

Costly Errors Provide Margin In Rainbow League Game

Costly errors provided the margin by which the Escanaba Cubs lost a 7 to 5 decision to Trenary in a Rainbow league baseball game Sunday at Trenary.

The Cubs scored in the third but Trenary came back with two in their half of the inning. Escanaba moved ahead in the fourth with a brace of tallies, but Trenary replied with three more for a 5 to 3 lead. The Cubs tied it up in the sixth but Trenary pushed across the winning tallies in the seventh inning.

Bob Dufour made a spectacular one handed, diving catch of a fly ball in left field for the fielding gem of the day.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

The Escanaba Bears made Bud Herman, the Iron Mountain pitcher, look better than he really was Sunday. Herman stopped the Bears cold with only one hit but when he pitched against Escanaba on June 9. The Bears reached out too often at bad balls and when they did connect, they had the misfortune to drive the pitch right at the fielders. Some of the 10 strikeouts would have been walks with a little more "looking 'em over" on 3-2 pitches. Nevertheless, the Bears agree that Herman is a better pitcher than Bimbo Constantini, the Crystal Falls chucker who has defeated Iron Mountain twice this season.

Who would have guessed Sunday morning that a deluge of rain was going to plague the baseball game scheduled for Sunday afternoon? The morning dawned bright and warm and the Bears believed that for once this season they were going to get a break in the weather for a home game. The clouds gathered rapidly shortly before two o'clock and at 2:15 the bottom dropped out, maintaining the vexing record of rain every Sunday. The Bears have lost more money on gate receipts due to bad weather breaks this season than they have taken in.

Manager Jimmie Mancini talked the umpires into an extra base when Fornetti singled in the second inning. Gardner's throw hit the umpire at first base. Fornetti had the play first out for a base hit and Mancini argued that because the ball had struck the ump, Fornetti was entitled to advance to second as on an overthrow. The umpire yielded but Section 6, Rule 47 indicates the decision was in error. The rule simply says that if a thrown or pitched ball strikes the person or clothing of an umpire the ball shall be considered in play and the bases are entitled to all the bases they can make. In this case, Fornetti was unable to advance to second and, of course, he should not have been given the extra base. There was no protest on the ruling, however, and Fornetti was left stranded at second when the next three men went out in order.

The Cleveland Indians provided a laugh on July 14 when their entire infield shifted to the right in an effort to stop Slugger Ted Williams—and then balked the strategy by walking Williams. Prior to a recent game with the Red Sox, the White Sox were discussing the Boston slugger and Shortstop Luke Appling asked Johnny Rigney, who was slated to pitch, "How do you want me to play Williams?" Tell you what, Rigney replied, "Play him deep. Better play him half way up in the right field stands, if you can."

And that seems to be the best suggestion to date. At least they'll get the ball back.

Hopp rapped out ten safeties in 22 trips to the plate including games of Sunday while Musial collected 13 hits in 27 tries to increase his .360 mark of a week ago to .369.

Walker trails Musial with .365 but the veteran outfielder of the Dodgers is 37 points ahead of Johnny Mize of the New York Giants who is fourth with .328. Behind Mize are Sid Gordon, New York, .311; Enos Slaughter, St. Louis, .309; Phil Cavarretta, Chicago, .308; Red Schoendienst, St. Louis, .306; Pee Wee Reese, Brooklyn, .305; and Del Ennis, Philadelphia, .299.

Gardner is a new member of the first ten while Ennis and Schoendienst are back after missing a week. Frank Gustine of Brooklyn, Pete Reiser of Brooklyn and Tommy Holmes of Boston dropped out of the select group.

Musial continues to pace the loop in runs scored, 71, hits, 130, doubles, 27, and triples, 10. Mize retained his home run leadership with 19 while Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh remained runner-up to the Giant first baseman with 16 circuit smashes.

Slaughter drove in eight runs to increase his league-leading total to 76, four more than knocked home by Walker. Reiser held the department of play, having 24 steals to his credit.

Rookie Emil Kush of Chicago and Veteran Art Herring of Brooklyn, used chiefly in relief roles by their respective teams, are tied for the leadership in pitching honors, both possessing six won and one lost records.

The game scheduled between the Paper Mill and the White Birch team this evening at Flat Rock has been cancelled because of conflict with the Perronville-Escanaba baseball game tonight. The game will be made up at a later date.

The Webster Hawks defeated Oberg's of Ludington Park, 4 to 3, in the preliminary baseball game at the city diamond Sunday afternoon.

The Hawks used three pitchers, Prokos, Weber, and Schwalbach and Courneene was the catcher. The battery for Oberg's was Abrahamson and Laviolette.

Plans for a junior baseball tournament are being made and will be announced next week. Nine baseball gloves, two first basemen's mitts, bats and balls have been purchased and will be put in use this week.

Wilson admitted a divergence of opinions was likely in various sections of the country over what constituted proselytizing or subsidization of athletes. "But we can't ride the rail any longer," he declared, "over a period of 20 years there has been a tremendous increase in the matter of the school seeking the boy, rather than the boy seeking the school. We're headed for the semi-pro business."

Wilson said that assuming enforcement of amateurism, violators might be

IRON MOUNTAIN DEFEATS BEARS

Escanaba Loses 4 To 0 Decision; Herman Has One-Hitter

NWM League Scores Sunday Iron Mountain 4, Escanaba 0. Negaunee 9, Iron River 0. Other games rained out.

Bud Herman's sparkling one-hit pitching trick handed the Escanaba Bears a 4 to 0 setback from the Iron Mountain Rangers here Sunday afternoon, and knocked the Bears out of fourth place in the NWM league standings as Negaunee moved into the position with a 9-0 decision over Iron River.

The Escanaba-Iron Mountain game didn't get started until 3:45 o'clock as a result of a heavy rain that swept the diamond for more than a half hour.

The lone Escanaba hit was registered by Toodles Flath in the seventh inning, a sharp blow into right field, but he was wiped out on a double play.

After the third inning the Bears went out in one-two-three order, never threatening a scoring rally. They got a runner to second on a base on balls and a sacrifice in the second inning, and had a scoring chance in the third when a walk, an error and a fielder's choice put runners on second and third with two out, but Herman pitched his way out of trouble.

Iron Mountain scored one run in the fourth on Schultz's single, a sacrifice and Herman's double. They scored two more earned runs in the fifth on a walk and three singles. The final run in the seventh was unearned, two errors figuring in the tally after Doney singled.

Although he was touched for 10 hits, Fitzpatrick spaced them effectively except in the fourth and fifth frames.

Herman had 10 strikeouts and Fitzpatrick seven.

Next Sunday the Bears play Iron River at Escanaba in a NWM league game.

Colleges Checking On Growing Threat Of Commercialism

BY JERRY LISKA

Chicago, July 22 (P)—Athletic representatives of 18 college conferences, in a history-making "meeting of minds," today opened a two-day session aimed at checking a growing threat of commercialism in collegiate sports.

Some 42 delegates, representing 200 universities and colleges from coast-to-coast, cautiously approached the subject of "athletic shopping," but some formal stand was expected before the National Collegiate Athletic Association's executive council reviews the discussions Wednesday.

The group appointed Prof. Carl Leib of the University of Iowa, Western Conference athletic representative, as chairman after Big Ten Commissioner Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, N.C.A.A. secretary, explained why he had summoned the unprecedented gathering.

Wilson recalled that although the N.C.A.A. adopted in 1946 a "declaration of sound principles and practices for intercollegiate athletics," it never has been assured by members whether its role was that of a "recommending agency" or "a policeman."

Leib said the representatives would be asked to "define campus amateurism and the extent to which it should be enforced by the N.C.A.A."

Wilson admitted a divergence of opinions was likely in various sections of the country over what constituted proselytizing or subsidization of athletes. "But we can't ride the rail any longer," he declared, "over a period of 20 years there has been a tremendous increase in the matter of the school seeking the boy, rather than the boy seeking the school. We're headed for the semi-pro business."

Wilson said that assuming enforcement of amateurism, violators might be punished by athletic schedule boycotts. "It's either that, or something will come up like another Carnegie report or conflict with academic accrediting agencies, like the North Central association of colleges and secondary schools," he added.

Next 2 Weeks May Decide Flag Races In National League

New York, July 22 (P)—Brooklyn and St. Louis, tied for the National League lead, headed east today for the sixth inter-sectional tests of the season, fully aware that the trend of the pennant race may be determined in the next two weeks.

Although there was no activity scheduled in either league today, there was plenty of baseball conversation. The Dodgers were riding home from Pittsburgh, buoyed by a four-game win streak despite their disastrous road jaunt and confident that their return to friendly Ebbets Field would find them back on the high road to victory.

Eddie Dyer's St. Louis Cards, who had closed a five-game gap by copping 10 of 13 Sportsman's Field starts against the eastern visitors, were sure they had just hit their true stride and would open up a lead in their next-to-last long trip.

CASE AND COAN VIE FOR TITLE

Fastest Men In Baseball To Whisk Over Course For $1,000 Purse

Washington, July 22 (P)—A purse of $1,000 and the title of "fastest man in major league baseball" were planked down today as prizes for a race between George Case of the Cleveland Indians and Gil Coan, Washington speed king.

The cash money was put up by club Presidents Bill Vecek of Cleveland and Clark Griffith of Washington, after an argument arose over the relative speed of Case, the American league's leading base stealer, and Rookie Coan. The two outfielders will whisk over a special course at Griffith Stadium August 21, preceding a night game.

Case, 30 years old, was the league's base stealing champ for five successive seasons. Snuffy Stirnweiss of the Yankees has monopolized the throne for two seasons but Case is leading again this season with 17 thefts.

His friends also claim the base-circling record for him because in 1943 he made the round trip in 13.5 seconds in a Washington test. He has done 100 yards in 9.9 seconds, clad in baseball flannels and spikes.

Coan led the Southern Association in stolen bases last season and his speed has impressed the baseball experts. The other night he smashed a homer to the center field corner and scored standing up, a rare feat at Griffith Stadium.

The champion base-stealer of them all was Ty Cobb who held the title for six years.

Royono III First In Mackinac Race

Mackinac Island, Mich., July 22 (P)—Royono III of the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club crossed the finish line at 10:47 p. m. tonight first finisher in the 333-mile Chicago-to-Mackinac Island yacht race.

But the second boat in—the Blitz of the Detroit Yacht Club—had nearly a three-hour handicap and finished well ahead of the Royono on the basis of corrected time.

Royono, owned by John B. Ford, Jr., had an elapsed time of 57 hours, 20.47 minutes, and since it was a scratch boat its corrected time was the same.

Blitzen, owned by Murray Knapp and Ernie Grates, crossed the finish line 13 minutes later, but its handicap gave it a corrected time of 54.47.46.

Skippers reported a "fairly light wind" during much of the trip, keeping the pace-setters' times about average for the longest fresh water race in the world.

This differed from the Port-Huron-Mackinac race last week when more than two hours were clipped from the course record. Royono finished second in that event on the basis of elapsed time.

Suitable prizes will be awarded to tournament winners and there will be no entry fees. Horse-shoe pitchers must file their entries with the horseshoe tournament committee, Upper Peninsula State Fair, Escanaba, not later than Monday, Aug. 26.

Arthur Peterson, staff member of the recreation department, City of Escanaba, will conduct the tournament.

In addition to the singles tournament, there will also be doubles competition if sufficient interest is shown.

Elimination rounds will be held Friday, August 30, and Saturday morning, Aug. 31. The finals will be held Saturday afternoon.

Winners will be adjudged Upper Peninsula horseshoe pitching champions.

Almost All Georgia's Law Enforcement Officers Are Klansmen, Pearson Reveals

(Editor's Note—This article is the complete text of a speech broadcast from the steps of the Capitol in Atlanta, Ga., by Drew Pearson on Sunday. His strongly documented attack on the Ku Klux Klan was made from the heart of the Klan territory.)

BY DREW PEARSON

I stand on the steps of the capitol of a great state through the courtesy of one of the great governors of the United States—a governor who has the courage of his convictions. Governor (Ellis) Arnall and I stand tonight on hallowed ground—hallowed by the valiant defenders of Atlanta.

John Bell Hood, Joseph E. Johnston and the brave men who defended this ground did not do so from behind masked hoods. They fought in the open. General Joseph Wheeler rode with his magnificent cavalry in the daytime, in full uniform and under the Stars and Bars—as did every southern officer.

And because they did, the whole country proudly acclaims them. Their heroism belongs to all the nation. They had the courage to differ, but the chivalry to champion those differences not behind cowardly sheets, but in the open.

Called Carpetbagger

I have received threatening letters challenging my right to come to Atlanta, and calling me a carpetbagger.

There is no American today who is not ashamed of the carpetbaggers. But a carpetbagger is not a matter of geography—or birthplace—it is a measure of conduct. A carpetbagger is not despised by history because his home was in the north. He is held in contempt because of the crimes he committed against the south in the south—and his worst crime was the subversion of state government to his own ends.

By that definition—anyone who commits a crime against the south in the south—the worst carpetbaggers in history are members of the Ku Klux Klan.

They would seek to be a state behind a state—to control by force the regular processes of government. They seek this at a time when the south is on the threshold of completely reversing the stupid and shortsighted policies of reconstruction—when the north took unto itself the industrial cream of the continent. The world is about to come to the south as never before—because the south has so much to give. But that same force which would hold the masses down by hate and bigotry, at the same time holds down the rebirth of the south and its inheritance of the prosperity and chivalry of antebellum days.

I repeat: the 20th century carpetbagger is the Ku Klux Klan. The minority-rule elections of the state of Georgia are your problem, and elections in the state of Maryland are my problem. But hatred in any state is a national problem.

Twenty-three years ago in a beer hall in Munich there was planted the germ of a diseased idea—a germ of hate. At first people laughed at it. The planter of that germ was considered a clown and a buffoon. People ignored him. They said he was too crazy ever to get anywhere. But he did get somewhere. At first only the Jews were affected. Other people didn't worry then. But later it was the Catholics;

During a war men learn to hate a common enemy. And when war is over they cannot cast off the habit of hating overnight. So with the enemy removed, they sometimes fall to hating themselves—especially minorities.

Stephenson Case Recalled

That is what happened after the last war. Spawned in Georgia, the Ku Klux Klan sent its messengers of hate to Oregon and New York, Indiana and Kansas, to every corner of the land, until they had rolled up 9,000,000 members, and in five years collected the stupendous total of $90,000,000—the price paid by many naive, well-intentioned but misguided people, for lessons in bigotry.

It was the greatest big-business bonanza since the gold rush, with the Kleagles elevated from rags to riches and Imperial Wizard Evans, a dentist from Dallas, sailing his own yacht on the Potomac.

With Klan coffers bulging, the Kleagles eventually fell out over division of the spoils. D. C. Stephenson, Grand Dragon of Indiana, was given a life sentence for murder. Actually, his crime was insignificant beside the flogging and the lynching, the kidnapping, the branding, the mutilating, the burning of seven men at the stake in Texas. Stephenson had transported his paramour from Indiana—police to Hammond, where in a drunken orgy, she had taken bichloride of mercury and died. Grand Dragon Stephenson was charged with murder.

Stephenson was guilty, however, of a far worse crime—in the eyes of his fellow dragons. He had not given them a sufficient cut of Klan revenues. Also he knew too much about Indiana politics. So a mysterious perfume salesman appeared in Noblesville, Indiana, site of the trial, and made a house-to-house canvass, on the pretense of selling perfume to housewives—especially the jury panel. Gossiping with them over perfume sales, she had a chance to learn the views of every prospective juror. The jury was picked. Stephenson was sentenced for life. The perfume salesman was the wife of the Imperial Kleagle of Florida.

I hereby charge that Stephenson was railroaded—railroaded before a stacked jury by his own fellow Kleagles and by the Watson machine in Indiana—because he knew too much. A courageous governor of Indiana long ago would have let him out. But the Klan and certain Indiana politicians still don't want him out. Stephenson knows too much.

Today, the same invisible empire of bigotry, terror and hate is beginning to take root in the uncertainty of post-war America. Here are some of the latest unveiled developments:

Klavern No. 1, Atlanta—So many Atlanta police joined the Klan at a recent initiation meeting that it took two men to carry the armloads of police revolvers and lay them as a token of submission.

preme authority at the feet of Grand Dragon Samuel Green. Green stated that the entire membership of the police commission are now Klansmen, including Cecil Hester, second most important member of the city government.

The police of our nation cannot obey two masters. They cannot wear both white robes and blue uniforms.

Klavern No. 297, Atlanta—Titan Brown informed a recent meeting that practically all members of the city, county and state law enforcement agencies were Klansmen. If non-Klan policemen arrested a Klansman, boasted the Grand Titan, the judges would release him.

An American citizen cannot be one with qualifying objectives.

Detroit—The nightshirt brigade is backing Kim Sigler, Republican nominee for governor of Michigan.

Again Atlanta—The Klan proposes organizing a new secret labor union of "Gentile Protestant White Men." Its purpose, among other things, would be to slow down production in factories run by Jews and Catholics, thus aiding Anglo-Saxon white competitors—exactly like Hitler.

Attention Roy Leathers and James Davis: why is it that you do not crack down on Klan lawlessness in De Kalb county just outside Atlanta? You both have prosecutor powers. Also Mr. E. E. Andrews, prosecuting attorney for Fulton county: why do you permit Klan kidnappings right under your nose? Also why does Ed Burdett still remain a deputy sheriff of Fulton county despite the fact that he was indicted for a flogging in 1940 and still remains a member of the Klan?

These are questions civilization will ask the people and officials of Georgia if once again bigotry and terror go on the rampage. The men who spread this terror are a libel on the fair names of Stonewall Jackson, Louis Beauregard, and William Hardee, who, if they were alive today, would be riding in full uniform to stop these cowardly night-riders. Can you imagine a true descendant of Jeb Stuart charging an isolated negro farm house; or applying a blowtorch to a woman at night? There is no blacker mark against the Klan than that they seek to convert the august mantle of Robert E. Lee into a nightshirt. General Lee would have horsewhipped a grand dragon from his tent.

Many defenseless people will suffer because of the Klan, but those who have most to lose are the Klansmen themselves. They must live with themselves—with their own hate, their own cruelty. Men consumed by hatred are not happy men.

Immortality in part means that men live in the memory of other men—as do the beloved heroes of the south. A Klansman sells his immortality for a few nights of masquerading in a hood and night-shirt. His reward will be to be remembered with scorn until the end of man, and the descendants of the Klan will be ashamed.

As long as books are written and men read them, the Klan—like Hitler—will be condemned for its doctrine of hate.

On Stone Mountain, the Klan talked of lynchings. When Jesus Christ spoke on a mountain, he spoke of loving his fellow men.

History reveres men of good will.

STRIKE SETTLED AT ONE BAKERY

Hoyler And Baur Grant Workers Raise, Will Reopen Today

After deciding to negotiate separately with union representatives, the Hoyler and Baur bakery Monday effected an agreement on wage increases with striking employees whereby the bakery will resume operations today. It was announced last night by Arnold Alsten, union representative.

The tentative contract with the bakery workers, Alsten said, was based on the original proposal of the bakery firm, offering a 12½-cent hourly raise. Certain stipulations and conditions are included in the agreement, including a provision that another salary adjustment will be made in 30 days.

The situation remained unchanged at two other local bakeries, where production of baked goods has been at a standstill for more than two weeks because of the bakery workers strike.
